

Date: Wednesday, January 7, 2015 10:34 PM

From: Mumin Mukhlis <mukhlismumin1@gmail.com>

To: Taizoon Shakir <taizoonshakir@cox.net>

Subject: Re: Question

So why didn't you araz to Syedi Hussain bs (now mazoon) while you were in Bombay about the questions and doubts you had? Why go through his son?

On Jan 6, 2015 12:06 AM, "Mumin Mukhlis" <mukhlismumin1@gmail.com> wrote:

Through your skewed and tainted lens, that's how it appears to you. Mufaddal Moula has shown his emotions several times, but because of only one reason. Your blatant disregard for burhanuddin moulas abilities and control over his dawat.

Your blog and posts on the munafiq progressive site constantly insult smb by insisting his dawat was being controlled by his family and not him.

On Jan 6, 2015 12:00 AM, "Taizoon Shakir" <taizoonshakir@cox.net> wrote:

I'm not the one who is always angry. Your leader is.

On Jan 5, 2015 9:59 PM, Mumin Mukhlis <mukhlismumin1@gmail.com> wrote:

Your anger has taken you to a very bad place.

On Jan 5, 2015 11:57 PM, "Taizoon Shakir" <taizoonshakir@cox.net> wrote:

Father and mother? You mean the ones who disown me every time they don't agree with me? The ones who taught me to love Burhanuddin Mola's mazoon who now say laanat on him? Is this a religion or a joke?!

The parents who have never taken their grandson in their arms? Who didn't care whether I was living or dead for years?

Please, don't waste time sending me emails. Like I said, good luck with your leader and your beliefs. Good bye.

On Jan 5, 2015 9:40 PM, Mumin Mukhlis <mukhlismumin1@gmail.com> wrote:

So all of saifee mahal is just scared? Following money and corruption? None of them fear the wrath of Allah and how they will face imam uz zaman? Every single person, including your father and mother who raised you?

On Jan 5, 2015 9:51 AM, "Taizoon Shakir" <taizoonshakir@cox.net> wrote:

What makes you think she's left me? Saifee Mahal follows you wherever you are. Just by being here doesn't mean you are not a part of that world. That's what the general public doesn't understand about Saifee Mahal.

Good luck with your beliefs.

On Jan 5, 2015 6:44 AM, Mumin Mukhlis <mukhlismumin1@gmail.com> wrote:

How does following the crowd benefit her? You lived normal lives away from saifee mahal and away from mumineen.

I'm sure I don't need to remind you, but she's turned her life upside down to stay with Mufaddal Moula. She had to leave her husband, rock your children's world. It would have been much easier for her to stay put. Instead she chose to do the more difficult thing for what she believes to be right. She didn't take the easy way out and just follow like you're saying she did. There's something to say for that and you should be considering that in your decision making process.

On Jan 5, 2015 8:35 AM, "Taizoon Shakir" <taizoonshakir@cox.net> wrote:

She is following the crowd. That's why she's there. Along with the rest of Saifee Mahal.

On Jan 5, 2015 5:42 AM, Mumin Mukhlis <mukhlismumin1@gmail.com> wrote:

Well...

1. I'm not in Mumbai, I'm in the US
2. I don't know your wife

My point being, you trusted your wife for however many years you were married and believed she was an intelligent person capable of making decisions on her own and not just following a crowd. She wasn't being controlled by the dawat that you claim was being controlled by the shezadas. She also didn't have to worry about being separated from any local community because you live in a city where there are not very many mumineen.

So think about it. She had no reason to leave other than she believes haq to be with Mufaddal Moula and that you are being misguided.

On Jan 4, 2015 9:33 PM, "Taizoon Shakir" <taizoonshakir@cox.net> wrote:

Why don't you ask her. She is in Mumbai.

On Jan 4, 2015 6:21 PM, Mumin Mukhlis <mukhlismumin1@gmail.com> wrote:

So how do you explain your wife leaving you after you declared your allegiance to kq? She clearly wasn't under seige or any pressure. Being in Nevada, you were nowhere near anything that could threaten her and your lives.

So why would she and your kids leave you?
